Artist Caroline Durré was awarded a Humanities Program berth by the Australian Antarctic Division to travel on board the Aurora Australis to Casey and Davis Stations in October/November 1994. The Antarctic suite, a set of ten hand-printed limited-edition original lithographs, drawn on plates on location in Antarctica, is the result. They are printed by Peter Lancaster, of Lancaster Press in Melbourne, in collaboration with the artist. Image area is 245 x 370 mm, within an impressed border 325 x 450 mm, overall dimension of mount 490 x 615 mm. Only twenty copies of each image, plus two artist's proofs and a printer's proof, will be made.
